Welcome to grade eleven Biology! This letter is meant to inform you of what to expect this upcoming semester, and what I expect of you. It includes important materials such as late policies, contact information, and extra resources to help keep you organized.

Classroom Policy

Late Assignments:

- Labs, assignments and projects are due on the date assigned unless the student has made a prior arrangement with the teacher to submit the piece of work at a later date. Should a student be absent on the day a lab, assignment or project is due, the student may hand in the piece of work immediately upon his/her return to school without penalty as long as absence is confirmed by a parent/guardian. Failure to hand in a lab, assignment or project on the due date will result in a deduction of 5% of the achieve grade per day late to a maximum of 25% of the achieved grade. Once the teacher has marked and returned a lab, assignment or project, a student can no longer submit the piece of work for marks and will be assigned a zero. The teacher may, if he or she feels it is suitable, give the student an alternate assignment. Failure to submit the alternate assignment will result in a mark of zero.

Missed Tests

- It is a student's responsibility to make arrangements ahead of time for any tests/quizzes that are missed. If a student misses a test/quiz for an unforeseen reason, the student must be prepared to write the first day they return. NOTE: Students who miss a test or quiz without a valid excuse from the office will receive an automatic mark of zero.

My website is not designed to act as a supplement to class, but rather to provide an extra tool you can refer to when studying at home.

Remind101:

Remind101 is a simple app that allows me to send an email that will be received by your phone via text message. I often send out reminders for tests, assignments, and labs the night before, as well as a list of materials you will be required to bring.
